

LUND UNIVERSITY

European Master's Degree in Human Rights and Democratisation
A.Y. 2013/2014

AN END TO THE TRAGEDIES?

An analysis of two unprecedented multi-stakeholder initiatives in
Bangladesh's readymade garment industry.

Author: Thomas Colerick

Supervisor: Radu Mares

Abstract

The safety conditions at many factories in Bangladesh's readymade garment industry are extremely poor. For several years, this has resulted in notorious industrial tragedies, such as the 2012 Tazreen factory fire and the 2013 Rana Plaza building collapse, which together killed more than 1,200 workers and injured many more. Two recently established initiatives; the Accord on Fire and Building Safety in Bangladesh and the Alliance for Bangladesh Worker Safety represent an unprecedented collaboration among multinational companies and other stakeholders to collectively address the critical safety and health challenges in the industry.

This thesis investigates the causes of the tragedies at Rana and Tazreen, the extent to which the two initiatives address these causes, and finally approaches the Accord and the Alliance critically from a lens provided by the Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights. The latter in order to analyse if they align with this global standard of practice that is now expected of all States and businesses with regard to business and human rights.

It concludes that while the initiatives do address important root causes, not all of the causes appear to be prioritised equally. Furthermore, both non-alignment and alignment of the two with the Guiding Principles can be identified. The initiatives have merits as well as drawbacks, however, despite a difficult governance context vested with political interests, there are perspectives for constructive interaction. If the two initiatives succeed to coordinate better with each other and with the relevant national institutions, the synergies created have the potential to improve human rights protection.

Table of Content

1. Introduction.....	7
1.2. Research questions	11
1.3. Research design: An analysis inspired by a complex context, two cases, and two initiatives responding	12
2. Methodological approach.....	14
2.1. Comparative analyses	14
2.2. Desk research, online observation and interview.....	14
2.3. Methodological constraint	15
2.4. Analytical scope and delimitations.....	16
3. Regulatory and governance context of Bangladesh: Legislation, compliance and enforcement	18
3.1. The national legislation and its recent development.....	18
3.1.1. Implementation and enforcement.....	19
3.1.2. The National Action Plan	19
3.1.3. Freedom of association.....	20
3.1.4. Weak enforcement if any.....	21
3.1.5 Export Processing Zones.....	22
3.2. The international treaties.....	23
3.2.1. UN.....	23
3.2.2. ILO.....	24
3.3. Absence of effective public regulation.....	25
4. The Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights.....	27
4.1. The Corporate Responsibility to Respect and Human Rights Due Diligence.....	29
4.2. The legal status of the GPs.....	31
4.2.1. The consent accorded to the Guiding Principles	32
4.2.2. Networked governance.....	32
5. The causes of the disasters	34
5.1. The Rana Plaza case.....	34
5.1.1. No permission to build	36
5.1.2. Substandard building materials and machine vibration	36
5.1.3. Non-sufficient factory inspections.....	36
5.1.4. No collective worker organization.....	37
5.1.5. Compensation to victims	37
5.2. The Tazreen case.....	38
5.2.1. No permission and no inspection.....	38
5.2.2. Management ignoring the fire alarm and locking gates.....	39
5.2.3. Inadequate fire safety measures in the factory.....	39
5.2.4. Accountability and compensation.....	40
5.3. A typology of causes.....	41
5.3.1. The root causes	42
5.3.1.1. Illegally constructed buildings and bad materials.....	42
5.3.1.2. Deficient enforcement of relevant laws.....	42
5.3.1.3 Over-crowdedness of machines and materials	42
5.3.2. Other causes.....	43
5.3.2.1. Lack of safety features in the building.....	43
5.3.2.2. Management not prioritising workers' safety.....	43

5.3.2.3. No collective representation and organisation of workers.....	43
5.3.2.4. Inadequate compensation for victims.....	43
6. The Accord and the Alliance	45
6.1. The Accord on Fire and Building Safety in Bangladesh.	45
6.1.1. Content	45
6.1.2. Governance	47
6.1.2.1. Enforceable arbitration.....	48
6.1.3. Implementation.....	50
6.1.3.1. Credible inspections and remediation: The Accord and the root causes.....	50
6.1.3.2. The Accord and Human Rights Due Diligence	51
6.1.3.3. Training and Complaint Process: The Accord and the other causes	54
6.1.3.4. Access to remedy	55
6.1.3.5. Use of leverage through supplier incentives – the stick and the carrot	56
6.1.4. How are the causes being addressed?.....	58
6.1.5. Alignment with the Guiding Principles.....	59
6.2. The Alliance for Bangladesh Worker Safety	60
6.2.1. Content	61
6.2.2. Governance	62
6.2.3. Implementation.....	63
6.2.3.1. Factory inspections: the Alliance and the root causes.....	64
6.2.3.2. The Alliance and Human Rights Due Diligence	64
6.2.3.3. Safety training and Worker Empowerment: the Alliance and the other causes	66
6.2.3.4. Access to remedy	68
6.2.4. How are the causes being addressed?.....	69
6.2.5. Alignment with the Guiding Principles.....	69
7. Merits, drawbacks and space for constructive interaction	71
7.1. The merits.....	71
7.1.1. A collective response including the ILO	72
7.2. The drawbacks.....	73
7.2.1. Decisive differences?	75
7.3. Constructive interaction improving the protection of human rights?	76
7.3.1. Strength in numbers	77
7.3.2. An expansion to include other human rights?	77
8. Conclusion.....	79
Bibliography	82
Books	82
Chapters from books.....	82
Journal Articles.....	82
Academic reports, blogs and conferences	82
Governments	83
International Organisations	84
Non-governmental organisations	85
Annex 1: Transcription from Business & Human Rights Resource Centre Conference: The Rana Plaza disaster in Bangladesh – taking stock half a year on, New York City, November 20 2013.....	90
Annex 2: Interview with Professor Lee Swepston, former ILO Director and Senior Adviser on Human Rights, Raoul Wallenberg Institute, Lund, 7 April 2014.....	95