

European Inter – University Center for Human Rights and Democratisation

E.MA Master Thesis
2012 - 2013

'Skepticism and the Radical Critique of Human Rights in Contemporary Philosophy:

What Are The Possibilities for Universalism
After Foundationalism ?

Candidate: Vladislav Davidzon

Université Libre de Bruxelles -

Supervised by Justine Lacroix

Statement on the use of the E.MA thesis for library purposes¹

Name of the student: Matias Davidzon

Second semester host university: Université Libre de Bruxelles

Name of the supervisor: Justine Lacroix

Title of the E.MA thesis: Skepticism and the Radical Critique

of Human Rights in Contemporary Philosophy =

What are the Possibilities for Universalism after Foundationalism?

Academic year:

I hereby allow²

- Publication of the entire thesis on the web
- Publication only of the abstract and table of content of the thesis on the web

Use of the thesis in the library for the purposes of:

- Consultation only
- Photocopying
- Loan
- Digital format (pdf) delivery (only for other Masterini)

Matias Davidzon

(Signature)

¹ As decided by the E.MA Executive Committee on 22-23 April 2005.

² Tick only the options you allow.

Declaration against plagiarism¹

To be signed and placed at the beginning of the thesis

Name of the student: Vladimir Davidzon

Second semester host university: Université Libre de Bruxelles

Name of the supervisor: Justine Lacroix

Title of the E.MA thesis: Skepticism and the Radical Critique

..... of Human Rights in Contemporary Philosophy =

..... What are the Possibilities for Universalism after Foundationalism?

Academic year: 2012-2013

I certify that the attached is all my own work.

I understand that I may be penalised if I use the words of others without acknowledgement.

..... Vladimir Davidzon

(Signature)

¹ Art. 5.1.i of the E.MA Rules of Assessment: The thesis shall consist of an academic piece of work, written individually and independently by the student. It shall be different from work previously undertaken by the student outside the framework of the E.MA Programme, e.g. in another Master's programme. It shall be written in English. The student may write the thesis in French upon prior approval of the E.MA director of the second semester University. [...]

Abstract: An investigation of the history and present of human rights skepticism must begin with an inquest into right's grounding in both it's essentialist and foundational modes. Skepticism of human rights of the anthropological, relativist, anti-imperialist, communitarian and economic stripes are considered. The 'anti-political' position of the newly emergent human rights position is debunked and it's normative and hidden relations with the economic goals of the neo-liberal regime are exposed. The second section contains an in depth analytic and deconstruction of right's formal qualities and leads us away from concepts of justice towards those which are more easily assimilated by non-Western actors (such as dignity). Human rights are shown to be a Western construction based in a Judeo-Christian eschatology of redemption that the enlightenment was unable to strip away with the application of rationality. The contemporary human rights regime is shown to lack grounding structures. This brings us to the conclusion that the universality of rights is a social construction. The last chapter is an exploration of Hanna Arendt's idea of the ontology of the 'right to have rights' and what it means from the standpoint of human rights foundations. The concluding chapter explores new directions for the cosmopolitan ideal of a globalist human rights to proceed along with it's newly found insights about communitarian rights.

Keywords: Skepticism, Universalism, Arendt, Isaiah Berlin, Jeremy Waldron, Michael Ignatieff, Wendy Brown, Makau Mutua, Justification, Verification, Jeremy Bentham, Natural Rights, Neo-Liberalism, Analytical philosophy, Utopia, Essentialism, Foundations, Continental philosophy

Contents

Introduction	1
Typologies of Skepticism	7
Bentham's Critique of Natural Law, Legal Positivism	11
Noe-Colonialism and Human Rights Professionalism as Western Condescension	16
Fatalism, the Politics of Minimalism and Anti-Politics	22
Essentialism or Foundationism? The Search for the Grounds of Human Rights	29
Natural Rights, Premises and Dignity	38
Contingency, Sentimentality and Liberal Perfectionism	43
Teleology, Historicity, and the Emergence of Human Rights	47
Hanna Arendt, the Right to Have Rights and Utopia	50
Recuperation, Emancipatory Rupture and the Reemergence of Cosmopolitan Ethics	53