

Advancing Knowledge Production about Women's Access to Transitional Justice in Timor-Leste

Supporting the Human Rights Centre of the National University in strengthening its research dimension through the Tetum translation, publication and nationwide dissemination of the landmark study "Women's Access to Transitional Justice in Timor-Leste: the Blind Letters" (N. Vásquez, 2022), fostering awareness-raising and informed public debate across academia, institutions and civil society.

2023 – 2024

Global Campus of Human Rights, National University of Timor-Leste – Human Rights Centre, Association Chega Ba Ita (AcBit)

with the kind authorisation of Bloomsbury Publishing, London

Main results

The book was republished under a Creative Commons licence and made freely available through the GC Open Knowledge Repository. More than 200 printed copies were distributed to universities across Timor-Leste

The publication was launched in Dili and promoted nationwide through seminars at universities and community organisations, engaging over 300 students, activists and survivors

Online dissemination included webinars with Mahidol University (Bangkok) and SOAS (London), as well as a web advertising campaign reaching 296,476 people with 10,965 accesses to the e-book

“Sadly, many of the women who were interviewed are passing away, and with them their narratives and a part of their past. Thanks to this project, their stories and voices will become available for younger generations and will remain alive forever.” Noemi Pérez Vásquez, book author
